

THINK ABOUT BABIES AND STORK WILL COME! ADVICE OF PARENTS CHILDLESS 11 YEARS

Edmund Eyre Babcock

This is Edmund Eyre Babcock, the psychological baby. The distinction doesn't seem to bother Edmund. He's a healthy youngster and possesses a winning smile.

Austin, Tex., June 29.—If President Woodrow Wilson wants some one to back him up in his theory that great things can be accomplished by means of psychology, he ought to write to R. P. Babcock, registrar of vital statistics of the state of Texas. If the power of suggestion can bring a brand new baby into a home, there should be no difficulty in people obtaining prosperity and other good things for themselves by the same method, Babcock says.

The Babcocks had been married more than eleven years without their union having been blessed by the arrival of a baby and that they had about despaired of their long cherished hopes ever being realized..

Babcock thinks it was a fortunate thing that he was appointed to the position of state registrar of vital statistics two years ago. One of his duties is to make a record of the birth of every child when the reports come in each day from all parts of the state. During the last two years
